B. Kosuge Wines

B. KOSUGE | SONOMA COUNTY

Byron Kosuge is a native Californian, born and raised in the central valley. He prefers unadorned wines, or at least those that carry their adornment gracefully. Bryon wants to be as natural as he can but don't consider himself a "natural" winemaker, in the current sense of the term. Like most new world winemakers, he is inspired by old world wines but firmly believes that in the new world, we should be creating our own traditions, and not merely copying what came before.

Byron works with several other small brands: McIntyre Vineyards, Small Vines Wines, McEvoy Ranch, ShunYi Cellars, and Whistler Vineyards, all in California. It's not a coincidence that all but ShunYi are winegrowers—he likes to be close to the source, so to speak. The old cliché is true—great wine is made in the vineyard.

HARPER OAK

HARPER OAK | SONOMA COUNTY

Located north of Healdsburg and east of Geyserville, the Alexander Valley stretches 25 miles from north to south with the beautiful Russian River meandering through. The vineyards selected for Harper Oak Cabernet Sauvignon, found in Jimtown are adjacent from some of the most iconic producers of Alexander Valley. Sitting on a bench above the Russian River at an altitude of nearly 300 feet, the vineyard is planted on clay and sandy loam soils that range in depth from 18 inches to 5 feet over compacted sandstone, with moderate fertility and good drainage, make it ideally suited to Cabernet Sauvignon.

PRICE BREAKS:

MANDRAKE | PASO ROBLES

Wine Inspired By Aphrodite. In Folklore dating back to pre-biblical times, the mandrake root was imbued with all manner of magical powers. It was known to be an antidote against enchantments, to make the barren fertile, and, most commonly, to have power as a love potion. Aphrodite, Greek Goddess of Love, was sometimes known as the "Lady of the Mandrake" for the root's association with life's carnal pleasures. Our wines pay homage to this sensual goddess, this magical root, and the tradition of winemaking that is as old as these two legends.

SOLISTE | SONOMA COUNTY

Soliste was born from the commitment and shared vision of Elisabeth & Claude Koeberle and Beth & Donald Plumley to craft extraordinary wines. Demanding patience, tenacity, and singular focus on uncompromising standards, this is demonstrated in vineyard selection and care along with the use of trusted ancestral Burgundian techniques in the winery, reflecting our respect for tradition and history. The results – from the Dagueneau inspired St Andelain Sauvignon Blanc to our MonoClone® single vineyard, single clone, single cooperage Pinot Noirs that express the purest essence of a vineyard – are wines where the last taste is greater than the first; with finesse, balance, and elegantly interlaced layers that are in complete harmony with exceptional cuisine. We thank you for joining us on this journey.

About the name: In Burgundy, a winemaker often reserves a barrel for their family and friends. They call this special barrel Soliste. We hope you enjoy our wine with great food and in the company of those you cherish - just as we do.

WHISTLER

WHISTLER VINEYARDS | SONOMA COAST

Whistler Vineyards is a family-owned winery focusing on vineyard-specific wines from the West Sonoma Coast. It all started with our estate vineyard, Whistler Vineyard, located in the north-western corner of the West Sonoma Coast just a few miles from the Pacific Ocean. The vineyard is planted exclusively with Pinot Noir, Viognier, and Chardonnay at an ultra-high density of 2,450-4,000 vines per acre. The site's deep, marine sedimentary soils along with the cooling ocean breezes allow us to dry-farm, producing small clusters with tiny berries that have great flavor intensity. Today, we own and operate four vineyards on the West Sonoma Coast that make up the majority of our portfolio. Our mission is to craft authentic wines with complexity and balance that showcase the elegance and unique character of the West Sonoma Coast.

JAMES RAHN | WILLAMETTE VALLEY

James Rahn began his career in earnest at Café Campagne in Seattle, which is where his quest to understand wine was born. Upon moving back home to Chicago, he honed his craft as a Sommelier at his favorite local spot, Café Matou. Six years later he became the Wine Director at Girl & the Goat, an opportunity that later led to his first minor foray into winemaking as he partnered with Saviah Cellars in Walla Walla to create the house blend for the restaurant.

It didn't take long for James' desire to make wine to take hold of him and after another year he found himself on the way to Portland, Oregon working for Ponzi Cellars in the Willamette Valley. Then in 2013, James Rahn Wine Company was started. Since then, James has focused on producing small lots of site-specific wines that include Gamay, Pinot Noir, Pinot Meunier, Pinot Gris, Grüner Veltliner, Trousseau and two sites of Riesling. His hands are on every vine and bottle produced—a testament to his true artisanship. The wines are organic, sustainable and needless to say, absolutely delicious.

STRINGTOWN | WILLAMETTE VALLEY

Stringtown was born of the need in the market for affordable, high-quality, domestic Pinot Noir. All the grapes grown for Stringtown are done so without pesticides and chemical fertilizers. Here, the focus is on organic farming that examines the ecological relationship between soil, plants and animals. The winemaking is built on community and the strong support of independent growers who uphold this philosophy and make wines that are true representations of the land, vintage and climate. The integrity of the winemakers and the luscious, carefully farmed fruit make Stringtown a standout.

The Stringtown project had got off to an initial auspicious start, but without a reliable supplier, the bottling was briefly suspended. In a circuitous route, connections we had in the Walla Walla Valley led us to Eugene Wine Cellars, owned by grower Bruce Biehl. Bruce had been managing hundreds of hectares of vineyards in Oregon since the 1970s. Between his connections and his own sources, he has been able to offer us a consistently impeccable quality of Pinot Noir sourced from the Willamette, Rogue River and Umpqua valleys that is honest, genuine and unadulterated. The Stringtown is pure and elegant yet juicy and approachable, featuring the nuanced minerality and medium-body that make Oregon Pinot Noir so unique and so appealing.

SUZOR | WILLAMETTE VALLEY

Winemaker and owners Greg & Melissa, A husband and wife duo on a mission to build a community around good wine, food, and humans. They love to make beautiful and timeless wines from cool sites in the Willamette Valley, made in harmony with growers who share our commitment to sustainability.

Suzor wines are the result of a minimal-intervention winemaking process inspired by the old world, allowing each vintage to tell the story of a time and place. With a focus on fruit and craftsmanship, we set out to make the best wine we can-- telling the story of the land, our heritage, and our dreams. Suzor believes in embracing nature's beauty without compromise. You'll find no synthetic herbicides, pesticides, or additives in our wines. No added sugars, just beautiful fruit.

Suzor Wines honors their French heritage through Greg's grandmother's maiden name. "I work hard to create wines that resonate with the childhood memories of visiting my grandparents in the Loire Valley. I remain focused on making wines that convey our story, with a nod to French tradition."
