VINEYARD

Gevrey-Chambertin is a large village in the Côte de Nuits and one of the largest wine-producing villages in the Côte d'Or. The soils are chalky with a good proportion of clayey marl, giving the wine power and roundness. A sloping vineyard, Gevrey produces its AOC between 240 and 280 metres above sea level, facing east. The 9 Grands Crus of Gevrey-Chambertin cover a total area of 85.5 ha, with Charmes-Chambertin being the largest at 29 ha.

TYPE OF SOIL

Clay-limestone soil

VINIFICATION

Traditional winemaking, natural yeasts. Aged in barrels, 60% of which are new barrels.

AGEING

Ageing in barrels of which 60% are new. Wood of the barrels coming from the renowned french forest of Tronçais.

VINTAGE REPORT

2018, a very hot vintage, especially in July and August; 40 days with a temperature above 28 degrees. The growth was rapid, with beautiful vegetation. There were no diseases (mildew, powdery mildew). Due to this heat, the acidity level was quite low. The skins were thick with veraison which was completed in mid-August. The harvest was done in mid-September.

TASTING

A dark, brilliant purple colour. The intense nose reveals aromas of black and red berries (blackcurrant, redcurrant, raspberry), complemented by subtle notes of violets and roasted hazelnuts. Fresh and precise on the palate, with aromas of fleshy cherry and ripe blackcurrant.

FOOD PAIRINGS

This Charmes-Chambertin Grand Cru demands dishes that are both noble and rich: stuffed quail with boletus mushrooms and foie gras, duckling in red currants, tournedos « Rossini » of charolais, chicken au Chambertin... without forgetting cheeses of character such as Ami du Chambertin, Epoisses...
