From grain to glass with the highest quality ingredients, he wanted to crank up the still and create his own fire water, Mother Genever, eau-de-vie, kill-me-quick.

Situated in a constantly developing town, on the way to the Hamptons and Fire Island, Better Man is at a ideal location to drive tourism to Patchogue Village and the island as a whole. MONTANARO

With this new generation came rigorous attention to detail including the innovative introduction of steam distillation, providing a slow, linear process for optimal control in flavor extraction rarely seen in Italy at the time. By 2000, Giuseppe Montanaro, now eighty and without direct heirs, decided to sell Montanaro Distillery to a group of Piedmontese business people from the agriculture, wine, and spirits fields.
